To Whom It May Concern:

I am proud to have graduated from your institution. As an [name of school] alumnus, I value the time spent there, and am grateful for the skills and opportunities the education has given me.

However, as an American, I also value my rights as a citizen. Among these is the right to self-protection. Thus, I am deeply concerned about the college's ban on concealed carry. I understand the need for certain limitations on possession of firearms on campus, but respectfully submit that those citizens who have followed the procedures for obtaining a concealed carry permit (which require criminal background checks [a safety course/ fingerprinting/live fire test/written test]) have satisfied the state requirements for carrying a concealed firearm elsewhere in the state. [As a concealed carry permit holder, I can attest to the fact that myself and my fellow licensees are responsible citizens who take precautions for self-preservation no different from seat belts, fire extinguishers or virus protection software.]

Since criminals do not honor rules about firearms, the college's policies disarm only the law-abiding citizens who could actually make a difference in a mass casualty. By removing an individual's ability to defend themselves, the college opens itself up to liability concerns in the event of a preventable crime against an individual rendered defenseless by these policies.

I cannot in good conscience lend any support, financial or otherwise, to an institution such as yours that prohibits law-abiding citizens with concealed carry permits the right to protect themselves on campus.

As a supporter of Students for Concealed Carry on Campus, I will instead be donating funds to them.

Please feel free to contact me to discuss this matter further. I can be reached at [e-mail address] or by calling [phone number].

Sincerely,
